SECTION I INTRODUCTION

In 1966 the Professional Teaching Practices Act (AS 14.20) was passed to provide a means of policing ethics and for improving the standards and practices within the education profession. The act created a nine-member commission consisting of five classroom teachers, one principal, one superintendent, one representative from the Department of Education and Early Development, and one representative from higher education, all of whom are appointed by the governor for staggered three-year terms. Since 1973, an Executive Director has been employed to implement the policies and responsibilities of the Professional Teaching Practices Commission (PTPC).

A code of ethics for Alaska educators was adopted by the Commission and promulgated as state regulations. The code, which was rewritten in 2000 and revised periodically, provides the ethical standards by which members of the profession are judged.

In general, the Commission deals with matters of professional conduct and certification. It has the responsibility and the power to discipline members of the teaching profession and may issue warnings, reprimands and suspend or revoke certificates of educators.

The services and resources of the PTPC are available to any individual or group. Members of the education profession, school board members, agencies, and private citizens may approach the Commission for information and assistance concerning matters of ethics and professional practices in public education in the State of Alaska.

It is the intent of the Professional Teaching Practices Commission to serve as a preventative and positive force in helping to enhance the professional performance of all educators so that the public's right to the best education possible for all of Alaska's students is adequately protected.

SECTION II

COMPLAINT, INVESTIGATION AND HEARING PROCEDURES SUMMARY

The following is a summary of the complaint, investigation and hearing procedures of the PTPC. When filing a complaint, the Alaska Statutes and Regulations provided in this manual should be reviewed for a full legal description.

The Commission has jurisdiction over persons required by Alaska law to hold a teacher certificate, school administrators, instructors in institutions of higher learning, school program administrators, and school counselors.

Complaints

Complaints may be submitted to the Commission by members of the education profession or by the public. Notification by a state agency to the Professional Teaching Practices Commission that an educator has committed a crime may also result in action by the PTPC.

In most cases, locally available procedures for processing complaints should be pursued where they are applicable before filing a complaint with the Commission. These procedures may include parent complaint procedures within the local school district, staff grievance procedures, school board hearings and the like.

A formal hearing is the final step in resolving allegations against educators by the Commission. Upon a finding, by a preponderance of the evidence, that one of the four reasons cited in AS 14.20.030 is applicable, one of the following sanctions may be imposed: 1) a warning; 2) a reprimand; 3) a suspension of the certificate; or 4) a revocation of the certificate.

Investigation Procedures

The Commission staff may subpoena and interview witnesses, copy documents, and undertake other activities necessarily incident to an investigation.

Hearing Procedures

If the Commission staff determines that there are sufficient facts to warrant a hearing, a formal accusation is issued.

If the respondent does not file a notice of defense, the Commission makes a determination on the record. If the respondent files a notice of defense, the governor appoints an administrative law judge who presides over a hearing.

The hearing is a formal proceeding before the Commission in which the staff and the respondent may be represented by attorneys. All testimony is under oath and subject to cross-examination and all the procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act are observed.

Reprimand Hearing

If the staff decides that a violation has occurred but is not of the seriousness to warrant suspension or revocation of a certificate, a reprimand hearing may be conducted.

A reprimand hearing is before a panel of not less than three members appointed by the chair and is conducted in the same manner as the formal hearing.

Appeal of Executive Director's Decision

Where a complainant has requested that disciplinary action be taken against an educator but the Executive Director has made the administrative decision to dismiss the complaint on its face or to dismiss the complaint after an investigation, the complainant may appeal the decision. A written appeal must be filed within 15 days of the receipt of the notice of the decision.

The appeal will be heard by a three-member panel appointed by the Chair.

The review will be restricted to evidence previously submitted to the Executive Director.

The panel may uphold the decision of the Executive Director or direct that an investigation be completed and/or the matter brought to a hearing.

The decision of the panel is final and not subject to further appeal.

SECTION III COMPLAINT SCREENING GUIDELINES

The Commission staff or investigating committee shall screen all complaints to determine whether an investigation is warranted.

1. An investigation may not be warranted if:
  - a. The allegation, if true, would not constitute a violation of ethics or law.
  - b. An investigation would place the Commission in a position of initial responsibility for investigating allegations which, by law or otherwise, are more appropriately the responsibility of a court of law or another administrative agency or commission.
  - c. The complainant did not exhaust locally available school district remedies, including appeal to the school board. This does not apply if: 1) the complaint alleges a breach of ethics of such a serious nature so as to warrant further consideration by the Commission, or 2) the complaint is brought by the Department of Law, Department of Education & Early Development or other state agency.
  - d. The complaint involves an allegation of a contract violation for which a grievance procedure had been an available remedy.
  - e. The complaint was filed so late as to cause the respondent undue prejudice.
  - a. No complaint shall be investigated if anonymous.
  - b. No complaint shall be investigated if frivolous.
3. If the complaint is filed by a third party, an inquiry will be made to determine why such third party filed the complaint before a decision is made to accept it for investigation.
